Introduction:

The Personnel Commission of the Rowland Unified School District invites qualified consultants to submit proposals to conduct a district-wide classification and compensation study for all classified positions.

Background:

We are located 40 miles east of Los Angeles, and are proud to be one of the leading mid-sized school districts in California. With an estimated 15,000 students and 11 K-6 elementary schools, 3 K-8 Academies, 2 Intermediate schools, 2 High Schools, 1 Continuation High School as well as a Community Day School, we serve the communities of Rowland Heights, Walnut, La Puente, City of Industry and West Covina. Permits allow students from other communities to attend our schools.

In addition, we impact the community with programs for more than 5,000 adults through Rowland Adult and Community Education.

Objectives/Scope of Services:

To conduct a thorough job analysis and job evaluation of approximately 126 classifications, over a one year period. The District employs approximately 780 regular classified employees.

Principally, the goal of the District's Human Resources Department is to update our current job descriptions, compete with comparable districts and places of employment, offer fair payment for services, recruit the best talent externally and retain a high-quality workforce. The following are specific objectives for the study:

- Conduct a thorough job analysis of all classified positions
- Develop and/or update class specifications for all included classifications including the following elements:
  1. Class Title
  2. Definition
  3. Distinguishing Characteristics (if part of a family or if closely related classifications exist)
  4. Essential Functions
  5. Minimum Qualifications including Education, Knowledge, Skills and Abilities
  6. Desirable Qualifications
  7. Working Conditions including work environment and physical abilities in accordance with accepted ADA requirements
- Conduct a total compensation salary survey of comparable school districts
- Develop a manual detailing the methodology of the study and providing guidance to staff in implementing the system.
- Update existing job descriptions for all job classifications, including bargaining unit, confidential, and management, on the basis of the type of work and level of duties and responsibilities for the classification. Prepare job descriptions based on information obtained through job analysis and which include: a brief summary of duties/role of the classification, a brief statement as to how each classification supports students and the mission of the District, distinguishing characteristics between related classifications, supervision received and exercised, essential functions, compliance with ADA and FEHA requirements, physical demands, work environment, any hazardous conditions that might be encountered, and knowledge, abilities, and traits (or competencies) required to appropriately perform in the classification. Such job descriptions should also include recommendations for education and experience requirements taking into consideration the proposed classification plan, any legal considerations, and potential recruitment difficulty considerations.

- Realign duties of any existing job classifications that do not appear to make logical sense or may be creating unnecessary recruitment difficulty and/or high job turnover rates.
- Combine job classifications when it makes logical sense to do so based on high similarity and an overlapping of duties and other factors outlined in the foregoing objective; develop job descriptions for any newly-recommended job classifications in accordance with the areas discussed in the foregoing objective.
- Develop and prepare a salary and classification plan outlining internal job relationships within job families and among different job families.
- Allocate each position in the classified service to its proper classification.
- Propose and recommend a salary range placement for each classification based on internal relationships within job families and an external market analysis of comparable school districts and outside agencies.
- Provide a component that includes the methodology employed by the consultant in order to assist the District in maintaining the classification plan after completion of the study.
- Recommend an appeal/request for additional review procedure for employees included in the classification and compensation study. This should include consultant participation, documentation, and response as warranted.
- Ten (10) copies of both the preliminary report and the final written report must be prepared for review in a three ring tabbed binder.
- A series of communications and orientation meetings will be conducted with the Personnel Commission, management staff, and employee groups. These meetings will be held with appropriate personnel to acquaint them with the study objectives, procedures, classification and compensation principles and trends, expected study outcomes, and timetable of when critical components of the study are to be completed. All survey records, job analysis criteria, meetings conducted with employees, and notes regarding proposed changes must be submitted with the recommended classification changes.
- Field audit and conferences – individual and group field audits and conferences are to be held by the consultant with all employees involved in the study. Where there are several employees at the same position, small groups of employees may be utilized for the field audit or conference. The conferences are intended to provide the consultant with information to determine and distinguish objective job evaluation factors that shall form a basis for job comparison and job description development.
- The consulting firm will provide the staff required to complete the project. The District's Human Resources staff will be available to assist the consultant in arranging access to pertinent records and information and arranging for employees and supervisors to complete job questionnaire forms. Staff will also be available to assist the consultant in setting up the field audit and conference meetings.
